

PETERSBURG
WAREHOUSES WILL OPEN
FOR SALE OF BRIGHTS

Crop in Petersburg Section Said to Be Good, and Large Offerings Are Promised.

INTERESTING COURT DOCKET

Number of Citizens Indicted for Gambling, and Cases Will Be Heard at This Term — Public Schools Are Badly Crowded.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) — PETERSBURG, VA., September 15.—Supervision J. E. McCulloch has been instructed by the warehousemen to announce that the warehouses in this city will be opened for the sale of bright tobacco on October 8. The crop of bright tobacco in this section is said to be a good one, and the planters are now engaged in curing it.

Interesting Cases.

Among the mid-misdemeanor cases on the docket of the Hustings Court, which meets at Petersburg, is the trial of a member of citizens indicted by the grand jury on charges of gambling. They have excited much interest in the community, and it is reported that the new grand jury will make further investigation into the question of gambling. There is also a murder case on the docket—that of Nemo Williams, colored, charged with killing a man named Williams.

Pretty Home Wedding.

A quiet, but pretty, wedding took place last night at the residence of Mrs. P. S. Plummer, on St. Andrew Street, where the bride, a daughter of Mr. Plummer, was married to Michael Miller, of Richmond. The parsons were handsomely decorated with ferns and goldenrod. The bride was attended by her sister, Mrs. P. S. Plummer, and her brother, Arnold Watson, who was best man. The Rev. S. T. Norton performed the ceremony.

Personal and Otherwise.

A telegram received from Miss Florence Lariviere, of this city, who has been in Germany during the past two years, studying music under Madame Caron, announced that she was in London and would return home today on the steamer to Atlantic. The reason is a very comforting one to her relatives and friends here, who have been much concerned about her since the war started.

One of the alleged vagrants under arrest and held here passed as a beggar, soliciting alms before taken into custody by the police.

Owing to the crowded condition of the schools, it has been found necessary in some instances for the teachers to take advantage of the act of the Legislature permitting them to use their judgment in admitting children under seven years of age.

The evangelistic services conducted daily at each of the Baptist churches in this city and Ettrich are attracting many and interested audiences.

The large road force in Dinwiddie County is now working on the White Oak Road, from Burgess, on the old plankroad, to the Nottoway River, a distance of about twenty miles.

The inhabitants are cheering the contractors, who are to day at Dinwiddie, which was well attended. Several speeches were made for State-wide prohibition.

MOVIE DRAMA SUPPRESSED

Commissioner Thinks Film Is Based on Carman Murder Case.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) — NEW YORK, September 15.—Because "The Scandalous Wife," a movie drama, was, in his opinion, founded on the famous Carman murder case in Frederick, Md., while Mr. Horace C. Bell, a few days ago, indicated for the murder of Mrs. Louise Bailey, License Commissioner Bell today ordered his inspectors to suppress the film.

"The Scandalous Wife," according to the commissioner, utilized the Carman home and other real "props" of the Baileys' murder, and because in the last scene the wife is exonerated, Bell held that it was to be prejudicial to the cause of justice.

Commissioner Bell today issued an edict that no movies exhibited in New York must be neutral. That is, there must be nothing shown on the screen tending towards favoritism, and no nation now emboldened in the European war must be given the advantage in the pictures. Not until then can exhibitors tend to stir up racial feeling.

The commissioner's order was issued after his inspectors learned that many film companies now are preparing war pictures, staged in New Jersey, that when exhibited in a few weeks, will purport to show actual battles in France and Belgium.

VOYAGE INTERRUPTED BY GERMAN CRUISER

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) — NEWPORT NEWS, VA., September 15.—Attorney-General Pollard spoke here yesterday of the state of State-wide prohibition to a large audience. Mr. Pollard was introduced by Judge A. S. Hall. He was listened to with close attention, and was accorded general applause. The lines are strongly drawn here, with a seeming majority for prohibition.

The commissioners' order was issued after his inspectors learned that many film companies now are preparing war pictures, staged in New Jersey, that when exhibited in a few weeks, will purport to show actual battles in France and Belgium.

Commissioner Bell today issued an edict that war movies exhibited in New York must be neutral. That is, there must be nothing shown on the screen tending towards favoritism, and no nation now emboldened in the European war must be given the advantage in the pictures. Not until then can exhibitors tend to stir up racial feeling.

The commissioner's order was issued after his inspectors learned that many film companies now are preparing war pictures, staged in New Jersey, that when exhibited in a few weeks, will purport to show actual battles in France and Belgium.

Commissioner Bell today issued an edict that war movies exhibited in New York must be neutral. That is, there must be nothing shown on the screen tending towards favoritism, and no nation now emboldened in the European war must be given the advantage in the pictures. Not until then can exhibitors tend to stir up racial feeling.

The commissioner's order was issued after his inspectors learned that many film companies now are preparing war pictures, staged in New Jersey, that when exhibited in a few weeks, will purport to show actual battles in France and Belgium.

Commissioner Bell today issued an edict that war movies exhibited in New York must be neutral. That is, there must be nothing shown on the screen tending towards favoritism, and no nation now emboldened in the European war must be given the advantage in the pictures. Not until then can exhibitors tend to stir up racial feeling.

The commissioner's order was issued after his inspectors learned that many film companies now are preparing war pictures, staged in New Jersey, that when exhibited in a few weeks, will purport to show actual battles in France and Belgium.

Commissioner Bell today issued an edict that war movies exhibited in New York must be neutral. That is, there must be nothing shown on the screen tending towards favoritism, and no nation now emboldened in the European war must be given the advantage in the pictures. Not until then can exhibitors tend to stir up racial feeling.

The commissioner's order was issued after his inspectors learned that many film companies now are preparing war pictures, staged in New Jersey, that when exhibited in a few weeks, will purport to show actual battles in France and Belgium.

Commissioner Bell today issued an edict that war movies exhibited in New York must be neutral. That is, there must be nothing shown on the screen tending towards favoritism, and no nation now emboldened in the European war must be given the advantage in the pictures. Not until then can exhibitors tend to stir up racial feeling.

The commissioner's order was issued after his inspectors learned that many film companies now are preparing war pictures, staged in New Jersey, that when exhibited in a few weeks, will purport to show actual battles in France and Belgium.

Commissioner Bell today issued an edict that war movies exhibited in New York must be neutral. That is, there must be nothing shown on the screen tending towards favoritism, and no nation now emboldened in the European war must be given the advantage in the pictures. Not until then can exhibitors tend to stir up racial feeling.

The commissioner's order was issued after his inspectors learned that many film companies now are preparing war pictures, staged in New Jersey, that when exhibited in a few weeks, will purport to show actual battles in France and Belgium.

Commissioner Bell today issued an edict that war movies exhibited in New York must be neutral. That is, there must be nothing shown on the screen tending towards favoritism, and no nation now emboldened in the European war must be given the advantage in the pictures. Not until then can exhibitors tend to stir up racial feeling.

The commissioner's order was issued after his inspectors learned that many film companies now are preparing war pictures, staged in New Jersey, that when exhibited in a few weeks, will purport to show actual battles in France and Belgium.

Commissioner Bell today issued an edict that war movies exhibited in New York must be neutral. That is, there must be nothing shown on the screen tending towards favoritism, and no nation now emboldened in the European war must be given the advantage in the pictures. Not until then can exhibitors tend to stir up racial feeling.

The commissioner's order was issued after his inspectors learned that many film companies now are preparing war pictures, staged in New Jersey, that when exhibited in a few weeks, will purport to show actual battles in France and Belgium.

Commissioner Bell today issued an edict that war movies exhibited in New York must be neutral. That is, there must be nothing shown on the screen tending towards favoritism, and no nation now emboldened in the European war must be given the advantage in the pictures. Not until then can exhibitors tend to stir up racial feeling.

The commissioner's order was issued after his inspectors learned that many film companies now are preparing war pictures, staged in New Jersey, that when exhibited in a few weeks, will purport to show actual battles in France and Belgium.

Commissioner Bell today issued an edict that war movies exhibited in New York must be neutral. That is, there must be nothing shown on the screen tending towards favoritism, and no nation now emboldened in the European war must be given the advantage in the pictures. Not until then can exhibitors tend to stir up racial feeling.

The commissioner's order was issued after his inspectors learned that many film companies now are preparing war pictures, staged in New Jersey, that when exhibited in a few weeks, will purport to show actual battles in France and Belgium.

Commissioner Bell today issued an edict that war movies exhibited in New York must be neutral. That is, there must be nothing shown on the screen tending towards favoritism, and no nation now emboldened in the European war must be given the advantage in the pictures. Not until then can exhibitors tend to stir up racial feeling.

The commissioner's order was issued after his inspectors learned that many film companies now are preparing war pictures, staged in New Jersey, that when exhibited in a few weeks, will purport to show actual battles in France and Belgium.

Commissioner Bell today issued an edict that war movies exhibited in New York must be neutral. That is, there must be nothing shown on the screen tending towards favoritism, and no nation now emboldened in the European war must be given the advantage in the pictures. Not until then can exhibitors tend to stir up racial feeling.

The commissioner's order was issued after his inspectors learned that many film companies now are preparing war pictures, staged in New Jersey, that when exhibited in a few weeks, will purport to show actual battles in France and Belgium.

Commissioner Bell today issued an edict that war movies exhibited in New York must be neutral. That is, there must be nothing shown on the screen tending towards favoritism, and no nation now emboldened in the European war must be given the advantage in the pictures. Not until then can exhibitors tend to stir up racial feeling.

The commissioner's order was issued after his inspectors learned that many film companies now are preparing war pictures, staged in New Jersey, that when exhibited in a few weeks, will purport to show actual battles in France and Belgium.

Commissioner Bell today issued an edict that war movies exhibited in New York must be neutral. That is, there must be nothing shown on the screen tending towards favoritism, and no nation now emboldened in the European war must be given the advantage in the pictures. Not until then can exhibitors tend to stir up racial feeling.

The commissioner's order was issued after his inspectors learned that many film companies now are preparing war pictures, staged in New Jersey, that when exhibited in a few weeks, will purport to show actual battles in France and Belgium.

Commissioner Bell today issued an edict that war movies exhibited in New York must be neutral. That is, there must be nothing shown on the screen tending towards favoritism, and no nation now emboldened in the European war must be given the advantage in the pictures. Not until then can exhibitors tend to stir up racial feeling.

The commissioner's order was issued after his inspectors learned that many film companies now are preparing war pictures, staged in New Jersey, that when exhibited in a few weeks, will purport to show actual battles in France and Belgium.

Commissioner Bell today issued an edict that war movies exhibited in New York must be neutral. That is, there must be nothing shown on the screen tending towards favoritism, and no nation now emboldened in the European war must be given the advantage in the pictures. Not until then can exhibitors tend to stir up racial feeling.

The commissioner's order was issued after his inspectors learned that many film companies now are preparing war pictures, staged in New Jersey, that when exhibited in a few weeks, will purport to show actual battles in France and Belgium.

Commissioner Bell today issued an edict that war movies exhibited in New York must be neutral. That is, there must be nothing shown on the screen tending towards favoritism, and no nation now emboldened in the European war must be given the advantage in the pictures. Not until then can exhibitors tend to stir up racial feeling.

The commissioner's order was issued after his inspectors learned that many film companies now are preparing war pictures, staged in New Jersey, that when exhibited in a few weeks, will purport to show actual battles in France and Belgium.

Commissioner Bell today issued an edict that war movies exhibited in New York must be neutral. That is, there must be nothing shown on the screen tending towards favoritism, and no nation now emboldened in the European war must be given the advantage in the pictures. Not until then can exhibitors tend to stir up racial feeling.

The commissioner's order was issued after his inspectors learned that many film companies now are preparing war pictures, staged in New Jersey, that when exhibited in a few weeks, will purport to show actual battles in France and Belgium.

Commissioner Bell today issued an edict that war movies exhibited in New York must be neutral. That is, there must be nothing shown on the screen tending towards favoritism, and no nation now emboldened in the European war must be given the advantage in the pictures. Not until then can exhibitors tend to stir up racial feeling.

The commissioner's order was issued after his inspectors learned that many film companies now are preparing war pictures, staged in New Jersey, that when exhibited in a few weeks, will purport to show actual battles in France and Belgium.

Commissioner Bell today issued an edict that war movies exhibited in New York must be neutral. That is, there must be nothing shown on the screen tending towards favoritism, and no nation now emboldened in the European war must be given the advantage in the pictures. Not until then can exhibitors tend to stir up racial feeling.

The commissioner's order was issued after his inspectors learned that many film companies now are preparing war pictures, staged in New Jersey, that when exhibited in a few weeks, will purport to show actual battles in France and Belgium.

Commissioner Bell today issued an edict that war movies exhibited in New York must be neutral. That is, there must be nothing shown on the screen tending towards favoritism, and no nation now emboldened in the European war must be given the advantage in the pictures. Not until then can exhibitors tend to stir up racial feeling.

The commissioner's order was issued after his inspectors learned that many film companies now are preparing war pictures, staged in New Jersey, that when exhibited in a few weeks, will purport to show actual battles in France and Belgium.

Commissioner Bell today issued an edict that war movies exhibited in New York must be neutral. That is, there must be nothing shown on the screen tending towards favoritism, and no nation now emboldened in the European war must be given the advantage in the pictures. Not until then can exhibitors tend to stir up racial feeling.

The commissioner's order was issued after his inspectors learned that many film companies now are preparing war pictures, staged in New Jersey, that when exhibited in a few weeks, will purport to show actual battles in France and Belgium.

Commissioner Bell today issued an edict that war movies exhibited in New York must be neutral. That is, there must be nothing shown on the screen tending towards favoritism, and no nation now emboldened in the European war must be given the advantage in the pictures. Not until then can exhibitors tend to stir up racial feeling.

The commissioner's order was issued after his inspectors learned that many film companies now are preparing war pictures, staged in New Jersey, that when exhibited in a few weeks, will purport to show actual battles in France and Belgium.

Commissioner Bell today issued an edict that war movies exhibited in New York must be neutral. That is, there must be nothing shown on the screen tending towards favoritism, and no nation now emboldened in the European war must be given the advantage in the pictures. Not until then can exhibitors tend to stir up racial feeling.

The commissioner's order was issued after his inspectors learned that many film companies now are preparing war pictures, staged in New Jersey, that when exhibited in a few weeks, will purport to show actual battles in France and Belgium.

Commissioner Bell today issued an edict that war movies exhibited in New York must be neutral. That is, there must be nothing shown on the screen tending towards favoritism, and no nation now emboldened in the European war must be given the advantage in the pictures. Not until then can exhibitors tend to stir up racial feeling.

The commissioner's order was issued after his inspectors learned that many film companies now are preparing war pictures, staged in New Jersey, that when exhibited in a few weeks, will purport to show actual battles in France and Belgium.

Commissioner Bell today issued an edict that war movies exhibited in New York must be neutral. That is, there must be nothing shown on the screen tending towards favoritism, and no nation now emboldened in the European war must be given the advantage in the pictures. Not until then can exhibitors tend to stir up racial feeling.

The commissioner's order was issued after his inspectors learned that many film companies now are preparing war pictures, staged in New Jersey, that when exhibited in a few weeks, will purport to show actual battles in France and Belgium.

Commissioner Bell today issued an edict that war movies exhibited in New York must be neutral. That is, there must be nothing shown on the screen tending towards favoritism, and no nation now emboldened in the European war must be given the advantage in the pictures. Not until then can exhibitors tend to stir up racial feeling.

The commissioner's order was issued after his inspectors learned that many film companies now are preparing war pictures, staged in New Jersey, that when exhibited in a few weeks, will purport to show actual battles in France and Belgium.

Commissioner Bell today issued an edict that war movies exhibited in New York must be neutral. That is, there must be nothing shown on the screen tending towards favoritism, and no nation now emboldened in the European war must be given the advantage in the pictures. Not until then can exhibitors tend to stir up racial feeling.

The commissioner's order was issued after his inspectors learned that many film companies now are preparing war pictures, staged in New Jersey, that when exhibited in a few weeks, will purport to show actual battles in France and Belgium.

Commissioner Bell today issued an edict that war movies exhibited in New York must be neutral. That is, there must be nothing shown on the screen tending towards favoritism, and no nation now emboldened in the European war must be given the advantage in the pictures. Not until then can exhibitors tend to stir up racial feeling.

The commissioner's order was issued after his inspectors learned that many film companies now are preparing war pictures, staged in New Jersey, that when exhibited in a few weeks, will purport to show actual battles in France and Belgium.

Commissioner Bell today issued an edict that war movies exhibited in New York must be neutral. That is, there must be nothing shown on the screen tending towards favoritism, and no nation now emboldened in the European war must be given the advantage in the pictures. Not until then can exhibitors tend to stir up racial feeling.

The commissioner's order was issued after his inspectors learned that many film companies now are preparing war pictures, staged in New Jersey, that when exhibited in a few weeks, will purport to show actual battles in France and Belgium.

Commissioner Bell today issued an edict that war movies exhibited in New York must be neutral. That is, there must be nothing shown on the screen tending towards favoritism, and no nation now emboldened in the European war must be given the advantage in the pictures. Not until then can exhibitors tend to stir up racial feeling.

The commissioner's order was issued after his inspectors learned that many film companies now are preparing war pictures, staged in New Jersey, that when exhibited in a few weeks, will purport to show actual battles in France and Belgium.

Commissioner Bell today issued an edict that war movies exhibited in New York must be neutral. That is, there must be nothing shown on the screen tending towards favoritism, and no nation now emboldened in the European war must be given the advantage in the pictures. Not until then can exhibitors tend to stir up racial feeling.

The commissioner's order was issued after his inspectors learned that many film companies now are preparing war pictures, staged in New Jersey, that when exhibited in a few weeks, will purport to show actual battles in France and Belgium.

Commissioner Bell today issued an edict that war movies exhibited in New York must be neutral. That is, there must be nothing shown on the screen tending towards favoritism, and no nation now emboldened in the European war must be given the advantage in the pictures. Not until then can exhibitors tend to stir up racial feeling